

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Aimee Miller
Aimee Miller Marketing & Communications
303.549.9034
aimee@aimeemillermarketing.com

SITWISE LANDS XCEL ENERGY CONTRACT

Denver, CO (March 31, 2009) – SiteWise, a Denver-based subsurface utility engineering firm, announces that it has been awarded a major contract from Xcel Energy to provide locating services for the company’s underground gas and electric facilities in South Denver, Pueblo and along the Western Slope.

“The new contract with Xcel Energy is a tremendous addition to our business and allows us to continue expanding our services throughout the state,” says Dennis Thebeau, president, SiteWise, LLC. “We believe it is also a true testament to our long-standing relationship with Xcel Energy and our overall commitment to client service.”

SiteWise, LLC is a leading subsurface utility engineering (SUE) firm offering services in utility and contract locating, hydro/air excavation, environmental remediation and damage prevention consulting. Headquartered in Denver, and with offices throughout the state, SiteWise offers services to utility owners, oil and gas companies, engineering and environmental abatement firms, developers and construction companies in Colorado and the surrounding areas. For more information, visit www.SiteWiseLLC.com

###